MARIELLA CARRINO GRANT – in memoriam

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The International Institute for the Sociology of Law of Oñati (IISL) and the Carrino family have created the “Mariella Carrino Annual Program for the promotion of socio-legal research”.

Through this programme, in memory of Mariella Carrino and her post-published doctoral thesis work, her family wishes to promote scientific studies on social conflict, housing policy and housing rights, and thus facilitate the careers of young researchers interested in these subjects, by providing an annual financial contribution for this purpose.

The conditions for applying for the ‘Mariella Carrino grant – in memoriam’, previously validated by the Scientific Committee created for this purpose, will be published annually on the website of the International Institute for the Sociology of Law (IISL) www.IISL.es, who undertake to faithfully respect the spirit in which this grant was created.

1. Type of research project:

These are projects to promote research in socio-legal matters, preferably those related to social conflicts on public housing policies and the right to housing, in accordance with the thematic area studied by Mariella Carrino.

Alternatively, the grant may also be used to cover the tuition fees of a student of the International Master in Sociology of Law taught at the IISL, by reimbursement of the allocated amount.

2. Recipients and features:

2.1. The Programme will consist of a grant, donated by the Carrino family, which will be offered to research projects on the aforementioned subjects, preferably developed by students or graduates of the International Master's in Sociology of Law taught at IISL.

2.2. The beneficiary of the grant must carry out his/her research entirely at the IISL and will benefit from all its facilities, access to the library and documentation centre and participation in all the Institute's activities.

2.3 The application and the research project must be written in English or fully translated into English if originally written in another language. In this case, the original version must also be attached to the application or submitted with the final project.

2.4. The grant may be applied for as an individual or as a group. In the second case, a person must be appointed as the person responsible for the direction of the research. In order to be eligible for the grant, it is essential to have a university degree that supports the research. This requirement will be checked beforehand by the Scientific Committee.

3. The Scientific Committee:

The Scientific Committee will be composed of five members: two members proposed by the Carrino family and two by the IISL. The latter will be its scientific director and the president of the Research Committee on Sociology of Law (RCSL). The four members will appoint the fifth member.

4. Deadlines:

The official call for applications will be published on the IISL website and media. Applications, together with the required documentation, must be submitted within 20 working days from the day after the call for applications is published, using the form provided for this purpose by the IISL.

The Scientific Committee will be responsible for evaluating the applications and awarding the grant before 31 July.

The beneficiaries of the grant must carry out their research in person at the IISL between September and December of the current year.

An advanced draft of the research project must be submitted by 30 November. The Scientific Committee will evaluate its quality and approve the advanced draft of the research project or may indicate aspects to be improved or completed, which will be corrected before the delivery and final validation of the research project.

- Submission of applications: 20 working days after publication.
- Award of the grant: before 31 July.
- Submission of the first advanced draft of the research project: before 30 November (2,500 words).
- Submission of the final project validated by the Scientific Committee and declaration of authorship and originality of the research: by 31 December (15,000 words)

5. Payments:

The amount granted by the Carrino family is €4,000 (four thousand euros): 4000€ (Four thousand euros).

The grant will be paid in the following way:

- 1º) 20% of the total amount within one month of the election of the beneficiary.
- 2º) 50% once the advanced draft of the research project has been approved by the Scientific Committee.
- 3º) 30% once the final project has been submitted and approved by the Scientific Committee.

The IISL reserves the right not to pay the corresponding amounts in case of non-compliance with any of the necessary requirements or validation by the Scientific Committee, duly informing the parties involved.

In the case of abandonment of the project, the IISL must be reimbursed the partial amounts previously paid for the grant. The Carrino family or their representative will be duly informed, and the destination of the reimbursed amounts will be agreed. The same will apply in case of vacancy.

6. Intellectual property and advertising:

The research work is protected by Intellectual Property Law. Consequently, the ownership of intellectual property rights will correspond to the person who has carried it out, unless otherwise established, under the terms and conditions provided for in the legislation in force.

The successful applicants will waive any financial compensation for royalties from the IISL.

Any publication, conference or publicity of the research work that is the subject of the grant must refer to the 'Mariella Carrino Annual Programme for the Promotion of Socio-Legal Research' and the 'Mariella Carrino Grant – in memoriam'.

For all purposes, as far as the research work that is the object of the grant is concerned, the researcher will appear with the institutional affiliation of the IISL, and this will be stated where appropriate.

The IISL will have preference in the publication of the research work, both on paper and in electronic format, complying with the publicity requirement contained in this section.

The IISL may waive this right for the benefit of the author, if so decided by the Scientific Committee.

7. Requirements and documents to be submitted:

7.1. APPLICATION FORM:

7.2. The following documentation must be attached to the form:

- 1. Document accrediting a university degree (official degree).
- 2. Curriculum Vitae.
- 3. Title of the project, summary (300 words max.) and key words.
- 4. A detailed outline of the research project (2-5 pages).
- 5. Preview of the bibliography to be used.
- 6. Work plan and timetable.
- 7. Any other document justifying the research capacity of the candidates.

7.3. The IISL will acknowledge receipt of the application in due time and form. Without this requirement, the application will not be considered as submitted. If the application is incomplete, correction will be requested within 3 working days. After this period without complying with the requirements, the candidature shall be considered not to have been submitted.

Any doubts or queries arising from the interpretation of these rules can be addressed to the administrative manager of the scholarship, Marije Mesonero m.mesonero@IISL.es.
